

MOUD in Corrections: Moving to Implementation Notetaking Template – Breakout Rooms

Day:2 1/27/2021
Room name: Partnerships and Communications

Questions asked:

How are people making partnerships?

How to transfer patient to another facility and continue treatment? Transition to ICE??

Where do you get your funding?

Discussion themes that arose:

Stigma against corrections, not always welcomed into coalitions

Get judges on the same page

People's personal stories are compelling and effective in changing attitudes

Importance of communication with probation and parole

Challenges of discharge planning, especially with early/immediate releases due to COVID

Summary (a brief description summarizing key points that came out of interactive breakout session):

This group discussed partnerships and communications.

Stigma and stereotyping are issues in establishing partnerships and coalitions.

Judges play an important role and they need to have an understanding of OUD and best practices for treatment.

Probation and parole need to be involved in discharge planning.

Transferring clients to different facilities (jail, prison) requires communication for the continuum of care.
