

OPIOID RESPONSE NETWORK & WASHINGTON STATE UNIVERSITY

CONTINGENCY MANAGEMENT TRAINING WITH AMERICAN INDIAN AND ALASKA NATIVE COMMUNITIES

Free Culturally Responsive Training & Ongoing Implementation Support

The ORN is partnering with Washington State University (WSU) to provide free culturally responsive training and ongoing implementation support for contingency management (CM) to address stimulant use for Tribal Opioid Response (TOR) grantees and other interested American Indian/Alaska Native communities.

Training for Community

Training for communities consists of:

- Overview of CM - 10 online modules that are self-paced. Courses provide a culturally responsive overview training, reviews the theory and evidence behind CM, elements of an effective CM intervention, and compliance issues. Access to courses lasts for 3 months.
- Ongoing Coaching Calls - virtual calls with the WSU Training Team answering questions around CM, continued training and long term tools/guidance on CM implementation. Must complete online Overview of CM to join Coaching Calls.

Email to Request Training

To enroll in training, please scan the QR code on the bottom left corner to contact WSU via email or click on the prism.cm@wsu.edu email below.

*Funding for this initiative was made possible (in part) by grant no.1H79T1088037 from SAMHSA. The views expressed in written conference materials or publications and by speakers and moderators do not necessarily reflect the official policies of the Department of Health and Human Services; nor does mention of trade names, commercial practices, or organizations imply endorsement by the U.S. Government.